A blue circle indicates that some, but not all, facilities are accessible according to Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) standards. It means you can expect an accessible parking space, a clear path of travel to the facility and adherence to established ADA guidelines at that facility. For specific information, call the Oregon State Parks Information Line at 1-800-551-6949 (Oregon Relay for the hearing impaired: dial 7-1-1).

Park Classifications

SRA/SRS: State Recreation Area/Site Locations with access to a variety of recreational pursuits.

SSV/C: State Scenic Viewpoint/Corridor

Roadside spots and driving routes with a view. Don't forget your camera.

SHS/SHA: State Heritage Site/Area

Sites with important historic, prehistoric and cultural resources that preserve Oregon's history.

SNA/SNS: State Natural Area/Site

Valuable habitats that need your help to stay healthy. Expect more nature and fewer developed facilities.

State Wayside

A small parcel of roadside land with parking, picnic tables and restrooms.

All parks have potable water and are open year-round for day use unless otherwise noted. This symbol y represents year-round camping or lodging.

Notes for RVers

Each listing notes the maximum length of campsites if RV camping is allowed; both the RV and any towed vehicles must be able to fit into this space. Some parks have pull-through sites — these are also noted in the listings. Look for this symbol refer to find parks with RV dump stations. Please use these stations to empty full holding tanks rather than campsite connections, which can overflow.

Please note: This guide provides information about the most developed and/or frequently visited state parks. It is available in other formats upon request. All information is subject to change without notice. Check website or call 800-551-6949 for most current information.

CELEBRATING 100 YEARS OF OREGON STATE PARKS

A hundred years ago, state parks were barely an idea in Oregon, little more than patches of roadside greenery. A 5-acre donation in 1922 — setting aside a special place for everyone — became Oregon's first official state park.

From 1922 to 1989, Oregon's state park system grew within the Oregon Department of Transportation and its predecessor agencies. Oregon Parks and Recreation officially became an independent agency in 1990 with much fanfare and public engagement. Today, the state park system comprises 254 park properties and more than 100,000 acres.

In 2022, we invite you to join us in celebrating this milestone. It's a year to reflect on the past 100 years and look to the future as we work to preserve this legacy for the next generation.

STRONGER OCEUDEU OREGON STATE PARKS & OREGON LOTTERY DOLLARS

It Started with One Woman's Vision

On the day after her 1845 wedding, Sarah Helmick left behind friends, family, and everything she had ever known. She and her husband loaded all they could in a covered wagon and set out across the plains for Oregon. They took up a land claim that included several scenic, shaded acres along the Luckiamute River, just south of Monmouth. There, they raised family, farmed, and, in Sarah's case, lived to celebrate her 100th birthday. Sarah marked this milestone in the early 1920s with a momentous gift-not one she received, but one she gave. She donated several acres of the family's original land claim to the State of Oregon for use as a park, a place we know today as the Sarah Helmick State Recreation Site.

It Grew From There

Sarah's generous gesture turned out to be more than just a park; it provided the spark that ignited the founding of our state parks system. In the years since, it's a system that has grown into more than 250 parks, recreation areas and heritage sites. From campers to climbers, hikers to horse-riders, Oregonians of all types avail themselves of a state park system that's second to none. It's a bond that became even stronger in 1998 when Oregon voters dedicated a portion of Oregon Lottery proceeds to operating and preserving the many unique places of beauty that comprise our state parks system.

One Centennial Begets Another

Sarah's personal centennial turned out to be a watershed moment for Oregon State Parks. Today, we celebrate another centennial: the 100th Anniversary of the Oregon State Parks System. Your Lottery play has helped keep our parks strong. Together, we're doing good things for these irreplaceable treasures. Congratulations, Oregon State Parks; here's to the next 100 years. Sarah would be so proud!

LOTTERY GAMES ARE BASED ON CHANCE AND SHOULD BE PLAYED FOR ENTERTAINMENT ONLY.

CHOOSE YOUR FUN

With 250-plus Oregon State Parks to visit, every day can be a different adventure.

Kayaking and paddleboarding

Paddle your way across Oregon's serene lakes and rivers. Many parks rent equipment, and some offer ranger-led kayak tours. Sign up at store.oregonstateparks.org.

Wildlife viewing

State parks protect some of the most valuable habitats on public land. These ecosystems support a rich diversity of plants, animals and birds. Bring your binoculars and a sense of awe as you discover Oregon's wild side.

Interpretive programs

Park rangers lead a variety of programs including guided hikes, wildlife talks, hands-on activities and more. Check out the event calendar on stateparks.oregon.gov to help plan your trip.

Exploring history

Oregon State Parks safeguards the state's historic landmarks and cultural sites. Explore a restored gold dredge in Sumpter, learn about Chinese-American immigrants in John Day or spend the night at the Wolf Creek Inn, where Clark Gable and Jack London once stayed.

Whale watching

Scout the waves for Gray whales, orcas and other marine wildlife. Book an extended stay during December and March to see some of the 20,000 Gray whales migrating past the Oregon coast.

Disc golf

Experience this popular Northwest pastime at 11 state parks. Beginners can rent discs at several parks and learn the game on the flat, easier courses. Veterans seeking a challenge can tackle the wooded and trail-based courses.

CAMP YOUR WAY

TENT SITES FROM

RV SITES FROM $24 PER NIGHT

Enjoy Oregon's outdoors at your comfort level. All tent and RV sites include picnic tables and a fire ring. RV sites come with either electrical hookups or full hookups (includes sewage). Hot showers and modern restrooms are available at most campgrounds.

NORTH COAST

Charming coastal towns, picturesque beaches and historic landmarks connect the craggy headlands of the north coast.

Ecola State Park

FAVORITES

1 | Fort Stevens State Park

The largest campground in the state, Fort Stevens offers something for everyone. Tour historic military structures—Fort Stevens was an active military fort from the Civil War to World War II.

3 | Cape Meares State Scenic Viewpoint

Home of Oregon's shortest lighthouse and one of the best views for whale watching and birding. Thousands of seabirds nest on the cliffs of this National Wildlife Refuge. Also: don't miss the sprawling Sitka spruce aptly named the "Octopus Tree."

2 | Sitka Sedge State Natural Area

Explore Oregon's newest state park, a local favorite for its peaceful trails and secluded beach. The 3½ miles of trails take a meandering route to the wide stretch of beach, passing through tidal marshes, mudflats, wetland forest and dunes.

4 | Cape Lookout State Park

As the name implies, this is a park with a view. In winter, enjoy whale watching from 5-mile round-trip Cape Trail that juts out over the ocean. Whether you choose to come for the day and enjoy the beach and trails, or camp overnight in a yurt, cabin or campsite—this park is sure to become a favorite destination.

Secluded and scenic, Humbug Mountain is for campers who want to take a hike and hit the beach all in the same day. A 5.5-mile forested trail will lead you to the mountain summit. The beach is great for a picnic and offers some of the best windsurfing on the Oregon coast.

3 | Port Orford Heads

Just minutes from Hwy 101, this hidden gem packs both history and scenery. Visit the museum to learn about this site's past as one of the first U.S. Coast Guard lifeboat stations on the Oregon coast. Some of the most dramatic ocean views are visible from the looping trails that traverse the cape.

2 | Shore Acres State Park

Shore Acres is best known for its seven acres of lush, formal gardens. Between Thanksgiving and New Year's, the plants are illuminated by thousands of colored lights for the annual Holiday Lights show. After taking in the greenery, take a gander at the rugged sandstone cliffs and keep your eyes peeled for Gray whales.

4 | Sunset Bay State Park

This is your base camp for exploring 10 miles of trails that connect to the Shore Acres gardens and to Cape Arago, a WWII Coast Guard and U.S. Army lookout site where you can explore tidepools and see colonies of sea lions and seals. Sunset Bay is also home to a kid-friendly, bay-sheltered beach.

After the Smoke Clears

The pattern of wildfires in Oregon has been changing over recent decades. Higher temperatures, lower humidity and persistent drought are combining to increase fire danger significantly. The result? Severe, large-scale fires are causing lasting changes to forests and the people who live and recreate in them.

Some of your favorite parks and trails may look different for years following a fire. Know that over time, the forest will regenerate, just as it has in the past after a wildfire. For as long as there have been forests in Oregon, there have been fires.

After a burn, trees that died are recycled as snags and downed logs that provide habitat and enrich the soil. New plants sprout in open spaces. Watch for beauty in each stage of recovery.

Protect the Forest – Protect Yourself

Respect closed areas, which may contain hidden hazards. These areas are fragile and recovering.

Watch for erosion. Burned slopes are prone to slides, especially in wet weather. Trails may be closed or rerouted.

Check ahead for closures and conditions: stateparks.oregon.gov

SOUTHERN OREGON

Open spaces, fewer people and an adventurous spirit define southern Oregon's state parks.

FAVORITES

1 | Collier Memorial State Park

Collier blends history and recreation as few parks can. Tour the historic logging museum to learn about the wild history of Oregon's timber industry. Hike beside the Williamson River or saddle your horse for a 10-mile trail ride to nearby Jackson F. Kimball State Recreation Site.

3 | Golden State Heritage Site

Now a ghost town, this place was home to 100 miners at its peak in the 1850s. Today, visitors can explore five original buildings — a schoolhouse, a church, a home, a shed, and the town's former post office and store — and imagine what it would be like to settle in a foreign land in search of gold.

2 | Jackson F. Kimball State Recreation Site

Camping here is a divinely primitive experience. With just 10 first-come, first-served sites, you'll want to arrive early to claim your spot. After that, paddle across pristine Wood River for some prime fishing, or visit nearby Crater Lake National Park.

4 | Valley of the Rogue State Park

The perfect home base for your southern Oregon adventure. History buffs can visit the abandoned gold-mining town of Golden and take a stroll through historic Jacksonville. Adventure seekers can boat, swim and fish in the Rogue River, which flows alongside the park.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

hat follows is a general overview of rules, policies and things to know when you're planning your trip. Individual parks may have additional or modified rules due to special circumstances. All rates, fees and policies are subject to change without notice. For more information, visit bit.ly/Stateparks.oregonFAQ

Making a reservation

Reservations are accepted at 38 of the 52 state campgrounds. The rest are first-come, first-served. Check online for the reservation window. Reservations are highly recommended, especially in the summer!

When you make a reservation, you'll be charged in full for each night you plan to stay, plus an $8 non-refundable reservation fee per site. Once payment is confirmed, your reservation is guaranteed at the rate quoted.

CHANGES to a reservation can only be made over the phone by calling the Reservation Line at 800-452-5687 during business hours (8 am–5 pm, Monday–Friday) and are subject to a service fee.

CANCELLATIONS: Cancel your reservation up to one day before your scheduled arrival date by phone or online. If you need to cancel on your arrival date, call the park directly; phone numbers are provided in each campground listing. Cancellations are subject to a service fee.

Discounts

Oregon State Parks offers free camping and day-use parking to these groups:

- U.S. military veterans with a service-connected disability
- Active duty members of the U.S. military on official leave
- Oregon foster parents, guardians and adoptive foster parents and their children

Benefits are subject to some restrictions. Reservation and extra vehicle fees still apply. We do not have special rates for any other demographic group, such as seniors.

Camping policies

CHECK-IN AND CHECK-OUT TIMES: Check in is any time after 4 p.m. You must vacate your site by 1 p.m.

QUIET HOURS are 10 p.m. –7 a.m.

LENGTH OF STAY limited to 14 consecutive nights within any 17-night period. Campers must leave the park for at least three nights before returning.

BE A STEWARD OF YOUR STATE PARKS

Prevent invasive species from spreading.

Clean your shoes, vehicle and boats before entering and leaving a recreation site (or waterway). Remove any plant debris from your pet's fur before leaving. Stay on designated roads and trails. Use local firewood. playcleango.org

Don't let it loose. Releasing your pet goldfish or a plant or animal you found elsewhere can have unintended yet serious consequences when animals or plants reproduce and displace native species. oregoninvasiveshotline.org

Leave artifacts in place. Archaeological sites are our country's legacy. When artifacts are removed or damaged, that legacy cannot be restored. If you find an object, leave it in place and notify a ranger of the location.

CABLE TV: Hookups are available at some RV sites at Beverly Beach and Devil's Lake. There is an extra charge of $1 per night. Hookups are also available in some yurts at Harris Beach.

DUMP STATIONS are noted with this symbol in the listings. Please use these stations to empty full holding tanks rather than campsite connections, which can overflow.

SITE CAPACITY: Generally, no more than eight overnight campers are allowed at each site. Park managers have the discretion to raise or lower that number, depending upon circumstances at the campground.

EXTRA VEHICLES: Campsite costs generally include one vehicle per site, except in walk-in or hiker/biker sites. Additional vehicles (which cannot be RVs, campers or tent trailers) are subject to a $7 charge per vehicle per night to offset the costs of noise control and maintenance of the park grounds. The maximum number of vehicles allowed at a campsite is determined by the park manager, depending upon conditions in the park; some parks have a routine two-vehicle limit.

The extra vehicle charge does not apply to a vehicle towed into the campground with a legal towing device. Check listings for driveway length; both the RV and any towed vehicles must be able to fit into this space.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

Campfires: Firewood is for sale at most campgrounds. Fires are permitted only in provided fire rings and barbecue grills, or on portions of the beach designated for campfires (look for signs). Park managers may temporarily restrict or prohibit fires due to hazardous conditions, such as when a wildfire is burning in the area.

Firewood: To prevent the introduction of pests and plant diseases, Oregon Department of Agriculture regulations require the use of firewood either sourced in the Pacific Northwest (Oregon, Idaho and Washington) or imported wood that has been heat-treated and labeled pest-free. Firewood must be natural and chemically untreated, no more than two feet long, and free of metal, glass and plastic. Do not use gasoline or petroleum-based products to start or maintain a fire.

Cooking: For safety reasons, open fires, portable heating devices and stoves are not allowed inside park buildings, including yurts, cabins and tepees (microwaves are provided in deluxe yurts and cabins).

Toast s'mores, Not our Forests.

Summer means fire season. Campfire bans may be in place. Camp responsibly and follow posted fire restrictions.

General policies

Smoking: Smoking in Oregon State Parks is allowed only in personal vehicles, RVs, campsites and portions of day use parks along state highways that are designated as safety rest areas by the Oregon Department of Transportation.

Parking: At some parks, you need to display a day-use permit if you park a vehicle in the day-use area (look for this symbol in the listing). However, if you are a registered camper at any Oregon state park, your camping receipt serves as a day-use parking permit for all the days you are registered. Annual and 24-month passes that give you unlimited day-use parking at parks that charge a fee are available at store.stateparks.oregon.org and at park offices.

Visiting with your pet

Pets are welcome at all state parks unless otherwise noted. They need to be physically restrained at all times, which means you must be holding them, holding onto their collar or have them on a leash no longer than six feet. The exceptions are if your pet is in a designated off-leash area (parks with these facilities are noted in the listings); inside your vehicle, tent or pet-friendly yurt or cabin; or on designated beaches. In these cases, they must be under voice control and within sight. Please clean up after your pet to avoid a fine.

Dog-friendly beaches: Generally, dogs can run free on Oregon beaches, unless posted otherwise. You must carry a leash, and your dogs must be under voice control. Pets are not permitted on some beaches from March 15-Sept. 15 to protect a threatened shorebird, the western snowy plover, during nesting season. Visit bit.ly/wsplover for more information.

Pet-friendly yurts and cabins allow up to two pets (dogs or cats only) with a maintenance fee of $10 per night.

Service Animals: In keeping with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), a service animal is defined as a dog that is trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability. (Providing emotional support or deterring crime are not considered qualifying tasks.) Except under special conditions, service animals must also be restrained while in state parks.

OREGON LOTTERY SUPPORTING DOCOMPOSITION DOCO

100 years and counting, Oregonians love their Oregon State Parks.

More recently, they have shown their love in a unique way: by voting to dedicate Oregon Lottery dollars in support of State Parks. When you play lottery games, our parks receive some of the valuable dollars needed to keep them maintained and operating today, and for the next century to come. Read more about how lottery dollars help support the state parks you love at oregoniottery.org/state-parks
